4. Cancellations by Individual Passengers

An individual tour participant may cancel their booking without penalty up to 90 days prior to departure. Cancellations 89 days or fewer are subject to cancellation penalties as outlined below. Nonrefundable tour elements include online booking fees, credit card processing fees, tour elements noted on the Contract as "non-refundable". These are not considered penalties and will not be refunded at any time.

If, as a result of individual cancellations, the number of tour participants falls below the minimum requirement, Good News Travels reserves the right to adjust the per person tour price. Each participant must pay the per person rate associated with the type of room submitted on the required rooming list. Cancellations may require additional monies be paid by the remaining roommates; for this reason, participants are encouraged to transfer their seat to an approved replacement to avoid increased costs to others. Refunds are not given during a tour for no shows, or for attractions, meals, etc. that an individual participant does not use. Cash meal allowances will not be distributed to anyone other than the participant.

Cancellation notices must be sent by the Group Leader or passenger/responsible party via the online registration system OR by email to reservations@goodnewstravels.com, and dates are calculated from the receipt of this notice.
